About my Food blog:
We are a pair of food enthusiasts who loves to cook and more importantly with will to try the ample of food varieties out there. We believe that food has an undeniable linkage with the geographies, so we look forward to travelling places and discover their living and especially the food they live by and live for. We are looking for such enthusiasts and will encourage any kind of collaborations they can offer. We believe in a never ending and an underestimated love for food, which is true in all possible realms of life.

"Divided we'll fall but together we can spread the food love to this beautiful world."
